Water advisory ends for Snohomish subdivision residents

OLYMPIA — Residents of the Marbello housing development don't have to boil their drinking water anymore.

Iliad Inc., which operates the water system just north of Monroe, flushed the water system. Lab results received today on follow-up tests show the water meets safe drinking water standards.

Iliad issued the boil-water advisory on Tuesday after a water main broke and the system lost pressure. When water lines break, contaminants can potentially enter the water system.

The advisory affected the 97 homes in the Marbello housing development, which is off Chain Lakes Road about one mile north of Monroe. About 290 people live there.

Customers who have questions about their water service may call Iliad Inc. at 206-282-4200.
